Draft report
Jan Philipp Albrecht
(PE501.927v04-00)

on the proposal for a regulation of the European Parliament and of the Council on the protection of individuals with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data (General Data Protection Regulation)

Proposal for a regulation

Amendment 2951
Cecilia Wikström

Proposal for a regulation
Article 80 – paragraph 1

Text proposed by the Commission

1. Member States shall provide for exemptions or derogations from the provisions on the general principles in Chapter II, the rights of the data subject in Chapter III, on controller and processor in Chapter IV, on the transfer of personal data to third countries and international organisations in Chapter V, the independent supervisory authorities in Chapter VI and on co-operation and consistency in Chapter VII for the processing of personal data carried out solely for journalistic purposes or the purpose of artistic or literary expression in order to reconcile the right to the protection of personal data with the rules governing freedom of expression.

Amendment

1. Chapter II (General principles), Chapter III (Rights of the data subject), Chapter IV (Controller and processor), Chapter V (Transfer of personal data to third countries and international organisations), Chapter VI (Independent supervisory authorities), Chapter VII (Co-operation and consistency) as well as Articles 73, 74, 76 and 79 of Chapter VIII (Remedies, liability and sanctions) shall not apply to the processing of personal data carried out solely for journalistic purposes or the purpose of artistic or literary expression in order to reconcile the right to the protection of personal data with the rules governing freedom of expression.

Or. en

Justification

The new draft legislation on data protection takes the form of a regulation and thus is directly applicable. If data protection law applies directly, the freedom of the press exception must also be directly applicable. An implementation by Member States should not lower down the current level of protection. Furthermore, the exemption should be extended to Articles 73, 74, 76 and 79 of Chapter VIII (on Remedies, Liabilities and Sanctions) because these Articles include new elements which go far beyond what is foreseen in the current directive and are not suitable for journalistic activities or pose a serious threat to press freedom.

Amendment 2952
Birgit Sippel, Petra Kammerevert, Josef Weidenholzer

Proposal for a regulation
Article 80 – paragraph 1

Text proposed by the Commission

1. Member States shall provide for exemptions or derogations from the provisions on the general principles in Chapter II, the rights of the data subject in Chapter III, on controller and processor in Chapter IV, on the transfer of personal data to third countries and international organisations in Chapter V, the independent supervisory authorities in Chapter VI and on co-operation and consistency in Chapter VII for the processing of personal data carried out solely for journalistic purposes or the purpose of artistic or literary expression in order to reconcile the right to the protection of personal data with the rules governing freedom of expression.

Amendment

1. Member States shall provide for exemptions or derogations from the entireties of chapters Chapter II, Chapter III, Chapter IV, Chapter V, Chapter VI and Chapter VII in order to reconcile the right to the protection of personal data with the rules governing freedom of expression in accordance with the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union and its referral to the ECHR.

Or. en

Justification

The wording in the Commission proposal could be misunderstood and could lead to the interpretation that only some articles or paragraphs of the concerned chapters can be limited due to the freedom of speech. The amended wording is unambiguous and judicially clear. Furthermore, the phrase "solely for journalistic purposes or the purpose of artistic or literary expression" is not broad enough and could cause problems for media services handling confidential data needed for their journalistic work although the processing itself is not journalistic.

Judith Sargentini

Proposal for a regulation
Article 80 – paragraph 1

Text proposed by the Commission

1. Amendment

1. Member States shall provide for exemptions or derogations from the provisions on the general principles in Chapter II, the rights of the data subject in Chapter III, on controller and processor in Chapter IV, on the transfer of personal data to third countries and international organisations in Chapter V, the independent supervisory authorities in Chapter VI and on co-operation and consistency in Chapter VII in order to reconcile the right to the protection of personal data with the rules governing freedom of expression in accordance with the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union and its referral to the ECHR.

Or. en

Justification

Identical to the rapporteur's amendment 324, except that it doesn't add the words 'whenever this is necessary'. These words might be (mis) interpreted as a weakening of the obligation of Member States to provide for exemptions and derogations for the sake of freedom of expression

Proposal for a regulation

Article 81 – paragraph 2 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

2a. Where the data subject is required to give consent for the processing of personal data relating to health, the option of broad consent should be available. Member States may in any case provide for exceptions to the requirement of consent for the use of personal data for research, as referred to in paragraph 2, with regard to research that serves a high public interest. Such exemptions for processing shall be subject to a requirement that it be carried out if

*Historical, statistical and scientific activities are recognised under the regulation as uses of data that are in the public interest. Specific safeguards which allow the use of data for these purpose are detailed in Article 83. This amendment clarifies the relationship of Article 5(1)(b) to Article 83. The proposal is consistent with the previous legislation. Art. 6(1)(b) of the 1995 Data Protection Directive provides that “Further processing of data for historical, statistical or scientific purposes shall not be considered as incompatible provided that Member States provide appropriate safeguards.” The failure to carry forward this language into the Proposed Regulation appears to have been an oversight. Article 83a

Derogations in respect of processing for historical, statistical and scientific research purposes

1. Once the initial processing for which they were collected has been completed, personal data may be processed by archive services whose main or mandatory task is to collect, conserve, provide information about, exploit and disseminate archives in the public interest, in particular in order to substantiate individuals' rights or for historical, statistical or scientific research purposes.

The communication and dissemination tasks shall be carried out in accordance with the rules laid down by the Member States concerning access to and the release and dissemination of administrative or archive documents.

2. These forms of processing of personal data shall not be subject to the requirements laid down in Articles 5(d), 9, 23, 32, 33, 38 and 53(1)(f) and (g) of this Regulation.

3. Member States shall encourage the drafting, in particular by the European Archives Group, of codes of conduct designed to help archives apply rules on the processing of personal data, in particular in order to guarantee:

(a) the confidentiality of data vis-à-vis third parties;

(b) the authenticity, integrity and proper conservation of data;

(c) access to archives in the context of the rules governing access to the Member States' administrative documents or archives.

Justification

Les spécificités des archives sont rappelées par la déclaration de l'UNESCO de 2011 : « Les archives conservent les décisions, les actions et les mémoires. Les archives constituent un patrimoine unique et irremplaçable transmis de génération en génération. Les documents sont gérés dès leur création pour en préserver la valeur et le sens. Sources d'informations fiables pour une gouvernance responsable et transparente, les archives jouent un rôle essentiel dans le développement des sociétés en contribuant à la constitution et à la sauvegarde de la mémoire individuelle et collective. L'accès le plus large aux archives doit être maintenu et encouragé pour l'accroissement des connaissances, le maintien et l'avancement de la démocratie et des droits de la personne, la qualité de vie des citoyens. ». Dès lors, il convient d'articuler ce règlement, directement applicable en droit interne, avec les réglementations des Etats membres en matière d'archives. Il est en effet indispensable pour préserver l'existence et le bon fonctionnement des archives de prévoir un régime spécifiquement adapté. Ainsi, par exemple, pour assumer leur rôle de garant de la mémoire collective et individuelle, et d'être en mesure de garantir la fiabilité et l'authenticité des données confiées, notamment les données à caractère personnel, les services d'archives doivent être exemptés de certaines dispositions.
