COUNCIL DECISION 2001/ /JHA

setting up a European Network of National Contact Points for Restorative Justice

THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the European Union and in particular the Article 34,

Having regard to the initiative of the Kingdom of Belgium,

Having regard to the Opinion of the European Parliament,

Whereas:

- (1) Recommendation No R(85)11 of the Committee of Ministers of the Council of Europe on the position of the victim in the framework of criminal law and procedure of 28 June 1985 recommends the governments of the Member States to examine the possible advantages of mediation and conciliation schemes;
- (2) The United Nations Declaration of Basic Principles of Justice for Victims of Crime and Abuse of Power of 29 November 1985 calls upon the use, where appropriate, of informal mechanisms for the resolution of disputes, including mediation, arbitration and customary justice or indigenous practices to facilitate conciliation and redress for victims;
- (3) Recommendation No R(87)21 of the Committee of Ministers of the Council of Europe on assistance to victims and the prevention of victimisation of 17 September 1987 recommends the governments of the Member States to encourage experiments, whether on a national or a local basis, in mediation between the offender and his victim and evaluate the results with particular reference to how far the interests of the victim are served;

- (4) The 1990 United Nations Minimum Rules for non-custodial measures stress the importance of greater community involvement in the management of criminal justice and the need to promote among offenders a sense of responsibility towards their victims and towards society as a whole;
- (5) Recommendation No R(92)16 of the Committee of Ministers of the Council of Europe on the European Rules on Community Sanctions and Measures considers that sanctions and measures whose enforcement take place in the community constitute important ways of combating crime and to avoid negative effects of imprisonment;
- (6) The Vienna Action Plan, in point 19, states that "Procedural rules should respond to broadly the same guarantees, ensuring that people will not be treated unevenly according to the jurisdiction dealing with their case";
- (7) The Resolution 1999/26 of 28 July 1999 of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations on Development and implementation of mediation and restorative justice measures in criminal justice calls upon the States, international organisations and other entities to exchange information and experience on mediation and restorative justice;
- (8) The Communication of the Commission to the Council, the European Parliament and the Economic and Social Committee on Crime Victims in the European Union – Reflections on standards and actions (COM(1999)349 final, 14 July 1999) states that victim – offender mediation could be an alternative solution to long and discouraging criminal procedures, in the interest of victims, making possible the compensation of damages or recovering of lost property outside a normal criminal procedure;
- (9) Recommendation No R(99)19 of the Committee of Ministers of the Council of Europe concerning mediation in penal matters sets out principles for the Member States to consider when developing mediation in penal matters;
- (10) The Tampere European Council of 15 and 16 October 1999 concluded in the Conclusion 30 that alternative, extra-judicial procedures should be created by the Member States;

- (11) Resolution 2000/14 of 27 July 2000 of the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations on Basic Principles on the use of Restorative Justice Programmes in Criminal Matters calls upon the States to continue to exchange information and experience on mediation and restorative justice;
- (12) The European Parliament's Resolution on Crime Victims in the European Union of 15 June 2000 states the importance of the development of the rights of crime victims;
- (13) The Council Framework Decision of 15 March 2001 on the standing of victims in criminal proceedings states in Article 10 that Member States are to seek to promote mediation in criminal cases for offences which they consider appropriate for this sort of measures and to ensure that any agreement between the victim and the offender reached in course of such mediation in criminal cases can be taken into account. According to Article 17 each Member State shall bring into force laws, regulations and administrative provisions to comply with the Article 10 of the Framework Decision before March 22 of the year 2006;
- (14) The initiative of the French Republic and the Kingdom of Sweden to set up a European crime prevention network, as finalised in the Council Decision of 28 May 2001 is an excellent example in how the Member States can cooperate on a stable basis on certain topics. The inclusion of mediation with juveniles and social mediation in the first working program of the European Crime Prevention Network proves the growing interest in alternative ways of exercising criminal law. However, it should be stressed that the possible preventive capacities of mediation in particular and of restorative justice in general are only one aspect of the much broader approach of restorative justice, which applies to crime, criminal justice and criminal justice procedure as a whole;
- (15) This initiative was taken in consultation with the European Forum for Victim-Offender Mediation and Restorative Justice, a non-governmental organisation experienced in the field of restorative justice,

HAS DECIDED AS FOLLOWS:

Article 1

A European Network of national contact points for Restorative Justice

1. A European Network of national contact points for Restorative Justice, hereinafter referred to as the "Network", is hereby set up.
2. Network national representatives shall ensure the proper functioning of the Network in accordance with this Decision.

Article 2

Definition and forms of restorative justice

For the purpose of this Decision restorative justice refers to a comprehensive view of the criminal justice process in which the needs of the victim are prioritised and offender accountability is emphasised in a positive manner. Restorative justice denotes a broad approach in which material and immaterial reparation of the disturbed relationship between the victim, the community and the offender constitutes a general, guiding principle in the criminal justice process. Restorative justice covers a body of ideas that is relevant to various forms of sanctioning and conflict handling in the successive stages of or in connection with the criminal justice process. Although thus far restorative justice has mainly found expression in different forms of mediation between victims and offenders (victim – offender mediation), other methods are increasingly being applied, like for example family group conferencing. Governments, police, criminal justice agencies, specialised authorities, victim aid and support services, offender aid services, researchers and the public are all implied in this process.

Article 3

Objective of the Network

The Network shall contribute to developing, supporting and promoting the various aspects of restorative justice within the Member States as well as at the Union level. In this perspective legislative support and support to criminal justice authorities is an important orientation.

Article 4

Tasks

With a view of achieving the objective of Article 3 of this Decision, the Network shall serve in particular the following tasks:

- (a) The Network shall be an information point. To that aim the Network shall collect, analyse and evaluate information and data on existing restorative justice practices and on their development in the Member States, in order to contribute to the development of standards of best practice and to support future national and European initiatives. The Network shall also assist the Council and Member States with questionnaires on restorative justice practices.
- (b) The Network shall develop mechanisms to distribute and to make available the above mentioned information and data to authorities on a national, regional, European and international level and to other governmental or non-governmental organisations, groups, networks or fora working in or interested in the field of restorative justice.
- (c) The Network shall facilitate mutual exchange of information, experience and contacts between European, regional, national and local authorities, institutions, agencies, groups, networks and individuals concerned with the topic of restorative justice.
- (d) The Network shall promote research on the topic of restorative justice and to that aim the Network shall contribute to identify and develop the main areas for research in the field of restorative justice.
- (e) The Network shall contribute to identify and develop the main areas for training and evaluation in the field of restorative justice.
- (f) The Network shall organise conferences, seminars, meetings and other activities to promote restorative justice practices and to stimulate and improve the exchange of experiences and best practices.

- (g) The Network shall develop co-operation with applicant countries, third countries and international organisations and bodies.
- (h) The Network shall provide its expertise to the Council and to the Commission where necessary and upon request, with a view to assisting them in matters concerning restorative justice.
- (i) The Network shall report to the Council on its activities each year, through the competent working bodies, and indicate the areas for priority action in its working program for the following year. The Council shall take note of and endorse the report and forward it to the European Parliament.

The concrete interpretation, fulfilment and development of the tasks mentioned in this article will be subject to and will depend on the voluntary contributions of the Members States.

Cooperation

Because of the inherent community orientation and the grass-root level of the restorative justice development, the Network shall, in serving its tasks as described in the Article 4, pay in particular attention to the cooperation and the stimulation of exchange with non-governmental organisations working in the field of restorative justice. To enable the Network to achieve its aims in the most efficient and valuable way, the Network can decide to call upon the know-how and experience of those non-governmental organisations working in the field of restorative justice and even decide to cooperate in a more structural way.

Article 6

Composition of the Network

1. The Network shall consist of contact points designated by each Member State. The European Commission and candidate countries for accession to the European Communities may also designate a contact point.
2. Each Member State shall not designate more than three contact points.
3. These contact points shall include at least one representative from the national authorities competent for restorative justice in its many aspects.
4. Members States may also designate researchers, restorative justice practitioners or other actors in the restorative justice field as contact points.
5. Member States should ensure that researchers, restorative justice practitioners and other actors in the restorative justice field, such as local authorities and non-governmental organisations, are involved through the designated contact points.
6. Each Member State shall ensure that its contact points have sufficient knowledge of at least one other official language of the Union to enable them to communicate with the contact points.

Article 7

 - the main specific actions to be carried out (conferences, seminars, research programs, training programs);
 - the creation, the structure and the development of an electronic information exchange system and a web-site.

They shall also draw up the annual report on the activities of the Network.

They shall draw up their Rules of Procedure, to be adopted by unanimity.
