Amendments to a draft act

In amendments by Parliament, amendments to draft acts are highlighted in bold italics. Highlighting in normal italics is an indication for the relevant departments showing parts of the draft act which may require correction when the final text is prepared – for instance, obvious errors or omissions in a language version. Suggested corrections of this kind are subject to the agreement of the departments concerned.

The heading for any amendment to an existing act that the draft act seeks to amend includes a third line identifying the existing act and a fourth line identifying the provision in that act that Parliament wishes to amend. Passages in an existing act that Parliament wishes to amend, but that the draft act has left unchanged, are highlighted in bold. Any deletions that Parliament wishes to make in such passages are indicated thus: [...].

DRAFT EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION on the proposal for a directive of the European Parliament and of the Council on minimum standards on procedures in Member States for granting and withdrawing international protection (recast)

(Ordinary legislative procedure – recast)

The European Parliament,

– having regard to the Commission proposal to Parliament and the Council (COM(2009)0554),

– having regard to Article 251(2) and Article 63, first indent, points 1(d) and 2(a), of the EC Treaty, pursuant to which the Commission submitted the proposal to Parliament (C7-0248/2009),

– having regard to the Commission Communication to Parliament and the Council entitled ‘Consequences of the entry into force of the Treaty of Lisbon for ongoing interinstitutional decision-making procedures’ (COM(2009)0665),

– having regard to Article 294(3) and Article 78(2) of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union,

– having regard to the Interinstitutional Agreement of 28 November 2001 on a more structured use of the recasting technique for legal acts\(^1\),

– having regard to its resolution of 10 March 2009 on the future of the Common European Asylum System\(^2\),

– having regard to the letter of 2 February 2010 from the Committee on Legal Affairs to the Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs in accordance with Rule 87(3) of its Rules of Procedure,

– having regard to Rules 87 and 55 of its Rules of Procedure,

– having regard to the report of the Committee on Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs (A7-0085/2011),

A. whereas, according to the Consultative Working Party of the legal services of the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission, the proposal in question does not include any substantive amendments other than those identified as such in the proposal and whereas, as regards the codification of the unchanged provisions of the earlier acts together with those amendments, the proposal contains a straightforward codification of the existing texts, without any change in their substance,

\(^2\) OJ C 87E, 1.4.2010, p.10.
1. Adopts its position at first reading hereinafter set out, taking into account the recommendations of the Consultative Working Party of the legal services of the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission;

2. Calls on the Commission to refer the matter to Parliament again if it intends to amend the proposal substantially or replace it with another text;

3. Instructs its President to forward its position to the Council, the Commission and the national parliaments.

Amendment 1

Proposal for a directive
Recital 8

Text proposed by the Commission

(8) The resources of the European Refugee Fund and of the European Asylum Support Office should be mobilised to provide adequate support to the Member States' efforts relating to the implementation of the standards set in the second phase of the Common European Asylum System, in particular to those Member States which are faced with specific and disproportionate pressures on their asylum systems, due in particular to their geographical or demographic situation.

Amendment

(8) It is necessary for the resources of the European Refugee Fund and the European Asylum Support Office to be mobilised, inter alia, to provide adequate support to the Member States' efforts relating to the implementation of the standards set in the second phase of the Common European Asylum System, in particular to those Member States which are faced with specific and disproportionate pressures on their asylum systems, due in particular to their geographical or demographic situation. It is necessary that in Member States that accept a disproportionately large number of asylum applications in relation to the size of their population, financial support and administrative/technical support is mobilised immediately under the European Refugee Fund and the European Asylum Support Office respectively in order to enable them to comply with this Directive.

Amendment 2

Proposal for a directive
Recital 13
(13) This Directive respects the fundamental rights and observes the principles recognised in particular by the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union. In particular this Directive seeks to promote the application of Articles 1, 18, 19, 21, 24 and 47 of the Charter and has to be implemented accordingly.

Amendment 3

Proposal for a directive
Recital 14 a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

(14a) Member States are obliged to respect fully the principle of non-refoulement and the right to asylum, which includes access to an asylum procedure for any person who wishes to claim asylum and who is in their jurisdiction, including those under the effective control of a Union body or a body of a Member State.

Amendment 4

Proposal for a directive
Recital 15

Text proposed by the Commission

(15) It is essential that decisions on all applications for international protection be taken on the basis of the facts and, in the first instance, by authorities whose personnel has the appropriate knowledge or receives the necessary training in the field of asylum and refugee matters.

Amendment

(15) It is essential that decisions on all applications for international protection be taken on the basis of the facts and, in the first instance, by authorities whose personnel has the appropriate knowledge and receives the necessary training in the field of asylum and refugee matters.
(18) In the interests of a correct recognition of those persons in need of protection as refugees within the meaning of Article 1 of the Geneva Convention or as persons eligible for subsidiary protection, every applicant should have an effective access to procedures, the opportunity to cooperate and properly communicate with the competent authorities so as to present the relevant facts of his/her case and sufficient procedural guarantees to pursue his/her case throughout all stages of the procedure. Moreover, the procedure in which an application for international protection is examined should normally provide an applicant at least with the right to stay pending a decision by the determining authority, access to the services of an interpreter for submitting his/her case if interviewed by the authorities, the opportunity to communicate with a representative of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and with organizations providing advice or counselling to applicants for international protection, the right to appropriate notification of a decision, a motivation of that decision in fact and in law, the opportunity to consult a legal adviser or other counsellor, and the right to be informed of his/her legal position at decisive moments in the course of the procedure, in a language he/she can reasonably be supposed to understand and, in the case of a negative decision, the right to an effective remedy before a court or tribunal.

Amendment

(18) In the interests of a correct recognition of those persons in need of protection as refugees within the meaning of Article 1 of the Geneva Convention or as persons eligible for subsidiary protection, every applicant should have an effective access to procedures, the opportunity to cooperate and properly communicate with the competent authorities so as to present the relevant facts of his/her case and effective procedural guarantees to pursue his/her case throughout all stages of the procedure. Moreover, the procedure in which an application for international protection is examined should normally provide an applicant at least with the right to stay pending a final decision by the determining authority and, in the case of a negative decision, the time necessary for seeking a judicial remedy, and for long as a competent court or tribunal so authorises, access to the services of an interpreter for submitting his/her case if interviewed by the authorities, the opportunity to communicate with a representative of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and with organizations providing advice or counselling to applicants for international protection, the right to appropriate notification of a decision, a motivation of that decision in fact and in law, the opportunity to consult a legal adviser or other counsellor, and the right to be informed of his/her legal position at decisive moments in the course of the procedure, in a language he/she understands or may reasonably be supposed to understand and, in the case of a negative decision, the right to an effective remedy before a court or tribunal.
Amendment 6

Proposal for a directive
Recital 19

Text proposed by the Commission

(19) With a view to ensuring an effective access to the examination procedure, officials who first come into contact with persons seeking international protection, in particular those carrying out surveillance of land or maritime borders or conducting border checks, should receive instructions and necessary training on how to recognise and deal with requests for international protection. They should be able to provide third country nationals or stateless persons who are present in the territory, including at the border, in the territorial waters or in the transit zones of the Member States, and wish to request international protection, with all relevant information as to where and how applications for international protection may be lodged. Where those persons are present in the territorial waters of a Member State, they should be disembarked in land and have their applications examined in accordance with this Directive.

Amendment

(19) With a view to ensuring an effective access to the examination procedure, officials who first come into contact with persons seeking international protection, in particular those carrying out surveillance of land or maritime borders or conducting border checks, should receive instructions and necessary training on how to recognise, register and forward to the competent determining authority requests for international protection. They should be able to provide third country nationals or stateless persons who are present in the territory, including at the border, in the territorial waters or in the transit zones of the Member States, and wish to request international protection, with all relevant information as to where and how applications for international protection may be lodged. Where those persons are present in the territorial waters of a Member State, they should be disembarked in land and have their applications examined in accordance with this Directive.

Justification

The expression 'deal with requests for international protection' is extremely vague. It should be specified that authorities other than the determining authority are competent only to register applications and forward them to the determining authority for examination.

Amendment 7

Proposal for a directive
Recital 20
(20) In addition, special procedural guarantees for vulnerable applicants, such as minors, unaccompanied minors, persons who have been subjected to torture, rape or other serious acts of violence or disabled persons, should be laid down in order to create the conditions necessary for their effective access to procedures and presenting the elements needed to substantiate the application for international protection.

Amendment 8

Proposal for a directive
Recital 22

Text proposed by the Commission

(22) With a view to ensuring substantive equality between female and male applicants, examination procedures should be gender sensitive. In particular, personal interviews should be organised in a way which makes it possible for both female and male applicants to speak about their past experiences in cases involving gender based persecution. The complexity of gender related claims should be properly taken into account in procedures based on the safe third country concept, the safe country of origin concept or the notion of subsequent applications.

Amendment

(22) With a view to ensuring substantive equality between female and male applicants, examination procedures should be gender sensitive. In particular, personal interviews should be organised in a way which makes it possible for both female and male applicants to speak about their past experiences in cases involving gender based persecution to an interviewer of the same sex if so requested, who has specific training on the issue of interviews regarding gender-based persecution. The complexity of gender related claims should be properly taken into account in procedures based on the safe third country concept, the safe country of origin concept or the notion of subsequent applications.

Amendment 9

Proposal for a directive
Recital 24
Text proposed by the Commission

(24) Procedures for examining international protection needs should be organised in a way that makes it possible for the competent authorities to conduct a rigorous examination of applications for international protection.

Amendment

(24) Procedures for examining international protection needs should be organised in a way that makes it possible for the determining authorities to conduct a rigorous examination of applications for international protection.

Proposal for a directive

Recital 30

Text proposed by the Commission

(30) Member States should examine all applications on the substance, i.e. assess whether the applicant in question qualifies for international protection in accordance with Directive […]/EC [the Qualification Directive] except where the present Directive provides otherwise, in particular where it can be reasonably assumed that another country would do the examination or provide sufficient protection. In particular, Member States should not be obliged to assess the substance of an application for international protection where a first country of asylum has granted the applicant refugee status or otherwise sufficient protection and the applicant will be readmitted to this country.

Amendment

(30) Member States should examine all applications on the substance, i.e. assess whether the applicant in question qualifies for international protection in accordance with Directive […]/EC [the Qualification Directive] except where the present Directive provides otherwise, in particular where it can be ensured that another country would do the examination or provide effective protection. In particular, Member States should not be obliged to assess the substance of an application for international protection where a first country of asylum has granted the applicant refugee status or otherwise accessible and effective protection and the applicant will be readmitted to this country. Member States should proceed in this way only in cases where the applicant in question is in safety in the third country concerned.

Justification

The expression 'sufficient protection' is not clearly defined in the proposal. The protection which an applicant should enjoy if he or she is sent to another country must be effective and, in practice, accessible.
Amendment 11
Proposal for a directive
Recital 32

Text proposed by the Commission

(32) Furthermore, with respect to certain European third countries, which observe particularly high human rights and refugee protection standards, Member States should be allowed to not carry out, or not to carry out full examination of asylum applications regarding applicants who enter their territory from such European third countries.

Justification

The concept of 'safe European third countries' is unacceptable as it stands. This concept is not accompanied by any minimum guarantees or principles since both territorial access and access to the asylum procedure may be refused. Furthermore, recent studies have shown that no Member State currently makes use of this concept in practice.

Amendment 12
Proposal for a directive
Article 2 – point c

Text proposed by the Commission

(c) "applicant" or "applicant for international protection" means a third country national or stateless person who has made an application for international protection in respect of which a final decision has not yet been taken;

Does not affect English version.

Amendment 13
Proposal for a directive
Article 2 – point d

Text proposed by the Commission

(d) "applicant with special needs" means an applicant who due to age, gender, disability, mental health problems or consequences of torture, rape or other serious forms of psychological, physical or sexual violence is in need of special guarantees in order to benefit from the rights and comply with the obligations in accordance with this Directive;

applicant who due to age, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, physical or mental illnesses or consequences of torture, rape or other serious forms of psychological, physical or sexual violence is in need of special guarantees in order to benefit from the rights and comply with the obligations in accordance with this Directive;

Justification

Reference to sexual orientation and gender identity should also be included, to enable the applicants in question to enjoy special guarantees where appropriate.

applicant;
(iv) the father, mother or guardian of the applicant, when the applicant is a minor and unmarried, or when the applicant is a minor and married, but it is in his/her best interests to reside with his/her father, mother or guardian;
(v) the minor unmarried siblings of the applicant, when the applicant is a minor and unmarried, or when the applicant or his/her siblings are minor and married but it is in the best interests of one or more of them that they reside together.

Justification

"Family members" are not defined in Article 2, 'Definitions', yet the revised text refers to them on several occasions. It is therefore vital to include a definition and, in the interests of harmonisation, to use the definitions contained in the proposals amending the reception and qualification directives and the Dublin regulation. In so doing, however, a change to the definition is needed, since respect for family unity should not depend on whether or not the family existed before the applicant fled the country of origin.

Article 4 – paragraph 2 – point b

Text proposed by the Commission
(b) gender, trauma and age awareness;

Amendment
(b) gender, sexual orientation, trauma and age awareness, with particular attention being paid to unaccompanied minors;

Amendment 18

Proposal for a directive
Article 4 – paragraph 4

Text proposed by the Commission
4. Where an authority is designated in accordance with paragraph 3, Member States shall ensure that the personnel of that authority have the appropriate knowledge or receive the necessary training to fulfil their obligations when implementing this Directive.

Amendment
4. Where an authority is designated in accordance with paragraph 3, Member States shall ensure that the personnel of that authority have the appropriate knowledge and receive the necessary training to fulfil their obligations when implementing this Directive.

Amendment 19

Proposal for a directive
Article 6 – paragraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission
2. Member States shall ensure that a person who wishes to make an application for international protection has an effective opportunity to lodge the application with the competent authority as soon as possible.

Amendment
2. Member States shall ensure that a person who wishes to make an application for international protection has an effective opportunity to lodge the application with the competent authority as soon as possible. Where applicants are unable to lodge their application in person, Member States shall ensure that a legal representative is able to lodge the application on their behalf.
Justification

It is important that legal representatives should be able to lodge an application on behalf of applicants who cannot do so themselves (e.g. for medical reasons).

Amendment 20

Proposal for a directive
Article 6 – paragraph 5

Text proposed by the Commission

5. Member States shall ensure that a minor has the right to make an application for international protection either on his/her own behalf, or through his/her parents or other adult family members.

Amendment

5. Member States shall ensure that a minor has the right to make an application for international protection either on his/her own behalf – if he/she is considered under national law as capable of bringing proceedings – or through his/her legal representative or the latter’s authorised representative. In all other cases Article 6(6) shall apply.

Amendment 21

Proposal for a directive
Article 6 – paragraph 7 – point c

Text proposed by the Commission

(c) the cases in which the lodging of an application for international protection is deemed to constitute also the lodging of an application for international protection for any unmarried minor.

Amendment

deleted

Justification

The unclear wording of this amendment seems at odds with the revised Article 6(7)(c), which allows any minor, whether married or unmarried, to lodge an application for international protection on his/her own behalf, or via his/her parents or other adult family members. There is no reason why married minors should not enjoy this procedural guarantee. Marriage has no bearing on the degree of maturity or independence of a minor.
Amendment 22

Proposal for a directive
Article 6 – paragraph 8 – subparagraph 1

Text proposed by the Commission

8. Member States shall ensure that border guards, police and immigration authorities, and personnel of detention facilities have instructions and receive necessary training for dealing with applications for international protection. If these authorities are designated as competent authorities pursuant to paragraph 1, the instructions shall include an obligation to register the application. In other cases, the instructions shall require to forward the application to the authority competent for this registration together with all relevant information.

Amendment

8. Member States shall ensure that border guards, police and immigration authorities, and personnel of detention facilities have instructions and receive necessary training for recognising, registering and forwarding applications for international protection. If these authorities are designated as competent authorities pursuant to paragraph 1, the instructions shall include an obligation to register the application. In other cases, the instructions shall require to forward the application to the authority competent for this registration together with all relevant information.

Justification

The expression ‘dealing with applications for international protection’ could cause confusion and it should be specified that authorities other than the determining authority are competent only to register applications and forward them to the competent determining authority for examination.

Amendment 23

Proposal for a directive
Article 7 – paragraph 3 – subparagraph 1

Text proposed by the Commission

3. Member States shall ensure that organizations providing advice and counseling to applicants for international protection have access to the border crossing points, including transit zones, and detention facilities subject to an agreement with the competent authorities of the Member State.

Amendment

3. Member States shall ensure that organizations providing legal assistance and/or representation to applicants for international protection have swift access to the border crossing points, including transit zones, and detention facilities.

Proposal for a directive
Article 7 – paragraph 3 – subparagraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission
Member States may provide for rules covering the presence of such organizations in the areas referred to in this Article.

Amendment
Member States may provide for rules covering the presence of such organisations in the areas referred to in this Article, as long as they do not limit access by applicants to advice and counselling.

Amendment 25

Proposal for a directive
Article 8 – paragraph 1

Text proposed by the Commission
1. Applicants shall be allowed to remain in the Member State, for the sole purpose of the procedure, until the determining authority has made a decision in accordance with the procedures at first instance set out in Chapter III. This right to remain shall not constitute an entitlement to a residence permit.

Amendment
1. Applicants shall be allowed to remain in the Member State, for the sole purpose of the procedure, until the determining authority has made a final decision, including in cases where an applicant lodges an appeal, and for as long as a competent court or tribunal so authorises. This right to remain shall not constitute an entitlement to a residence permit.

Amendment 26

Proposal for a directive
Article 8 – paragraph 3

Text proposed by the Commission
3. A Member State may extradite an applicant to a third country pursuant to paragraph 2 only where the competent authorities are satisfied that an extradition decision will not result in direct or indirect refoulement in violation of international obligations of the Member State.

Amendment
3. A Member State may extradite an applicant to a third country pursuant to paragraph 2 only where an extradition decision will not result in direct or indirect refoulement in violation of international obligations of the Member State or expose the applicant to inhuman or degrading treatment upon arrival in the third country.
Justification

Diplomatic assurances have proved insufficient in ensuring the situation on the ground is secure for the applicant. The involvement of the UNHCR and EASO in this process would remedy this situation.

Amendment 27

Proposal for a directive
Article 9 – paragraph 3 – point b

Text proposed by the Commission
(b) precise and up-to-date information is obtained from various sources, such as the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and the European Asylum Support Office, as to the general situation prevailing in the countries of origin of applicants and, where necessary, in countries through which they have transited, and that such information is made available to the personnel responsible for examining applications and taking decisions and, where the determining authority takes it into consideration for the purpose of taking a decision, to the applicant and his/her legal adviser;

Amendment
(b) precise and up-to-date information is obtained from various sources, such as the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR), the European Asylum Support Office and international human rights organisations, as to the general situation prevailing in the countries of origin of applicants and, where necessary, in countries through which they have transited, and that such information is made available to the personnel responsible for examining applications and taking decisions and, where the determining authority takes it into consideration for the purpose of taking a decision, to the applicant and his/her legal adviser;

Amendment
(c) the personnel examining applications and taking decisions have the knowledge with respect to relevant standards applicable in the field of asylum and refugee law as well as human rights law and have completed the initial and follow-up training programme referred to in Article 4(1);
Amendment 29

Proposal for a directive
Article 9 – paragraph 3 – point d

Text proposed by the Commission

(d) the personnel examining applications and taking decisions are instructed and have the possibility to seek advice, whenever necessary, from experts on particular issues, such as medical, cultural, child or gender issues.

Amendment

(d) the personnel examining applications and taking decisions are instructed and have the possibility to seek advice, whenever necessary, from experts on particular issues, such as medical, cultural, child, gender, religious or sexual orientation issues.

Amendment 30

Proposal for a directive
Article 9 – paragraph 3 – point d a (new)

Text proposed by the Commission

(da) the applicant and his/her legal adviser have access to information provided by the experts referred to in point (d).

Amendment

(da) the applicant and his/her legal adviser have access to information provided by the experts referred to in point (d).

Justification

In compliance with the principle of equality of arms and the case law of the Court of Justice, the Commission’s recasting proposal stipulates (Article 9(3)(b)) that the applicant and his/her legal adviser should have access to country of origin information. In the interests of consistency and rigour, this should also apply in the case of access by the applicant and his/her legal adviser to information on the opinions of the experts consulted by the determining authority.

Amendment 31

Proposal for a directive
Article 10 – paragraph 2 – subparagraph 1

Text proposed by the Commission

with regard to refugee status and/or subsidiary protection status, the reasons in fact and in law are clearly stated in the decision and information on how to challenge a negative decision is given in writing at the time of issuing the decision and signed upon receipt by the recipient.

Justification

Adding this reference will ensure the applicant will receive the information swiftly therefore enabling him or her to comply with any time requirements for further administrative action.

Justification

The requirement for applicants to be informed of the possibilities for appealing against a negative decision is a fundamental procedural guarantee which cannot be restricted in this way. Amendment 34

Proposal for a directive
Article 11 – paragraph 1 – point a

Text proposed by the Commission
(a) they shall be informed in a language which they may reasonably be supposed to understand of the procedure to be followed and of their rights and obligations during the procedure and the possible consequences of not complying with their obligations and not cooperating with the authorities. They shall be informed of the time-frame, as well as the means at their disposal for fulfilling the obligation to submit the elements as referred to in Article 4 of Directive […/…/EC] [the Qualification Directive]. This information shall be given in time to enable them to exercise the rights guaranteed in this Directive and to comply with the obligations described in Article 12;

Amendment
(a) they shall be informed in a language which they understand or may reasonably be supposed to understand of the procedure to be followed and of their rights and obligations during the procedure and the possible consequences of not complying with their obligations and not cooperating with the authorities. They shall be informed of the time-frame, as well as the means at their disposal for fulfilling the obligation to submit the elements as referred to in Article 4 of Directive […/…/EC] [the Qualification Directive]. This information shall be given in time to enable them to exercise the rights guaranteed in this Directive and to comply with the obligations described in Article 12;

Justification

It is vital to provide this information in a language which applicants understand so that, once the procedure has been launched, they are genuinely able to grasp as soon as possible the procedure to be followed and their rights and obligations.

Amendment 35

Proposal for a directive
Article 11 – paragraph 1 – point e
Text proposed by the Commission

(e) they shall be informed of the result of the decision by the determining authority in a language that they may reasonably be supposed to understand when they are not assisted or represented by a legal adviser or other counsellor. The information provided shall include information on how to challenge a negative decision in accordance with the provisions of Article 10(2).

Amendment

(e) they shall be informed of the result of the decision by the determining authority in a language that they understand or may reasonably be supposed to understand when they are not assisted or represented by a legal adviser or other counsellor. The information provided shall include information on how to challenge a negative decision in accordance with the provisions of Article 10(2).

Justification

To ensure that they have access to effective remedy, it is vital for applicants to be informed of decisions concerning them in a language they understand and to have the information needed to lodge a valid appeal.

Amendment 36

Proposal for a directive
Article 12 – paragraph 1

Text proposed by the Commission

1. Applicants for international protection shall cooperate with the competent authorities with a view to establishing their identity and other elements referred to in Article 4(2) of Directive […/..EC] [the Qualification Directive]. Member States may impose upon applicants other obligations to cooperate with the competent authorities insofar as these obligations are necessary for the processing of the application.

Amendment

1. Applicants for international protection shall be required to assist, to the extent of their physical and psychological capacities, in clarifying the situation and to reveal their identity, nationality and other elements referred to in Article 4(2) of Directive […/..EC] [the Qualification Directive] to the competent authorities. If they are not in possession of a valid passport or a document in lieu of a passport, applicants shall be required to cooperate in obtaining an identity document. So long as applicants are permitted to remain in the Member State under international protection during consideration of the application, they shall not be required to enter into contact with authorities of their country of origin if there is reason to fear persecution by a language which he/she understands with a person competent under national law to conduct such an interview. Interviews on the admissibility of an application for international protection and on the substance of an application for international protection shall always be conducted by the personnel of the determining authority.

(d) the competent authorities may search the applicant and the items he/she carries with him/her, provided the search is carried out by a person of the same sex who is sensitive to the applicant's age and culture and fully respects the principle of human dignity and physical and mental integrity;
Justification

Given the potentially serious consequences of an inadmissibility decision, the personal interview on the admissibility of an application must be conducted by the determining authority, which, in accordance with Article 4 of the Commission proposal, must have the necessary training to apply complex concepts such as safe third country and first country of asylum.

<td>Member States shall determine in national legislation the cases in which a minor shall be given the opportunity of a personal interview, taking due account of the child’s best interests and special needs.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Justification

To give greater weight to the principle of the best interests of the child, Member States must include in their national law the right of all children to be heard, on the understanding that the interview in question is in the best interests of the child and conducted by staff possessing the appropriate knowledge required concerning the special needs of minors (see also Article 21(3)(b)).

Justification

Reference should be made to the determining authority, so as to ensure that the Commission proposal is consistent in asserting the primacy of the principle that there should be a single determining authority.

Amendment 41
Proposal for a directive
Article 13 – paragraph 2 – subparagraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

Where the Member State does not provide the applicant with the opportunity for a personal interview pursuant to point (b), or where applicable, to the dependant, reasonable efforts shall be made to allow the applicant or the dependant to submit further information.

Amendment

Where the determining authority does not provide the applicant with the opportunity for a personal interview pursuant to point (b), or where applicable, to the dependant, the determining authority shall allow the applicant or the dependant to reschedule the personal interview and to submit further information.

Amendment 42

Article 14 – paragraph 3 – point c

Text proposed by the Commission
(c) select a competent interpreter who is able to ensure appropriate communication between the applicant and the person who conducts the interview. The communication need not necessarily take place in the language preferred by the applicant if there is another language which he/she understands and in which he/she is able to communicate clearly. Amendment
(c) select a competent interpreter who is able to ensure appropriate communication between the applicant and the person who conducts the interview and is required to comply with a code of conduct laying down the rights and duties of the interpreter. The communication need not necessarily take place in the language preferred by the applicant if there is another language which he/she understands and in which he/she is able to communicate clearly. Wherever possible, Member States shall provide an interpreter of the same sex if the applicant so requests;

Justification

In the light of the shortcomings observed recently in the competence of interpreters, it is vital for a code of conduct for interpreters to be drawn up at national level. This will ensure that applicants have a genuine and proper opportunity to justify their application for protection and ensure better understanding and cooperation between interpreters and the staff conducting the interviews. The European Asylum Support Office (EASO) could assist in drawing up a code of conduct for interpreters.

Amendment

3. Member States shall allow the applicant to bring to the personal interview a legal adviser or other counsellor admitted or permitted as such under national law, or a qualified expert.

Amendment 54

Proposal for a directive
Article 20 – paragraph -1 (new)
-1. Pursuant to Article 21 of Directive [.../.../EU] [laying down minimum standards for the reception of asylum seekers] (directive on reception conditions), Member States shall establish procedures in national legislation with a view to identifying, as soon as an application for international protection is lodged, whether the applicant has special needs and indicating the nature of such needs.

Justification

The special guarantees introduced by the Commission proposal for applicants with special needs cannot be implemented effectively unless a mechanism is established to enable such applicants to be systematically identified.

Amendment 55

Proposal for a directive
Article 20 – paragraph 2

2. In cases where the determining authority consider that an applicant has been subjected to torture, rape or other serious forms of psychological, physical or sexual violence as described in Article 21 of Directive [.../.../EC] [laying down minimum standards for the reception of asylum seekers (the Reception Conditions Directive)], the applicant shall be granted sufficient time and relevant support to prepare for a personal interview on the substance of his/her application.

2. In cases where the determining authority consider that an applicant has been subjected to torture, rape or other serious forms of psychological, physical or sexual violence as described in Article 21 of Directive [.../.../EC] [laying down minimum standards for the reception of asylum seekers (the Reception Conditions Directive)], the applicant shall be granted sufficient time and relevant support to prepare for a personal interview on the substance of his/her application. Particular attention shall be given to those applicants who did not mention their sexual orientation immediately.

Amendment

2. Member States may refrain from appointing a representative where the unaccompanied minor:

a) will in all likelihood reach the age of maturity before a decision at first instance is taken; or

b) is married or has been married.

Justification

Article 21(2)(a) should be deleted so that Member States are not tempted to delay the taking of decisions at first instance, when what is needed is a generous – and non-discriminatory – approach to minors who will reach the age of maturity during the procedure. The same applies to Article 21(2)(b). In some countries the marriageable age may be very low, but this has no bearing on the degree of maturity or independence of the minor concerned.

Amendment
5. Member States may use medical examinations to determine the age of unaccompanied minors within the framework of the examination of an application for international protection, where, following his/her general statements or other relevant evidence, Member States still have doubts concerning his/her age. If those doubts persist after the medical examination, any decision shall always be for the benefit of the unaccompanied minor.

Amendment 64
Proposal for a directive
Article 21 – paragraph 5 – subparagraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission
Any medical examination shall be performed in full respect of the individual’s dignity, selecting the less invasive exams.

Amendment
Does not affect the English version.

Justification
Linguistic amendment to the German version, bringing it closer to the English (‘less invasive’).

Article 21 – paragraph 5 – subparagraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission
Any medical examination shall be performed in full respect of the individual's dignity, selecting the less invasive exams.

Amendment
Any medical examination shall be performed in full respect of the individual's dignity, selecting the most reliable and the less invasive exams and carried out by qualified and impartial medical experts.

Amendment 66
Proposal for a directive
Article 21 – paragraph 5 – subparagraph 3 – point a
Text proposed by the Commission

(a) unaccompanied minors are informed prior to the examination of their application for international protection, and in a language which they understand, of the possibility that their age may be determined by medical examination. This shall include information on the method of examination and the possible consequences of the result of the medical examination for the examination of the application for international protection, as well as the consequences of refusal on the part of the unaccompanied minor to undergo the medical examination;

Amendment

(a) unaccompanied minors are informed prior to the examination of their application for international protection, and in a language which they may reasonably be supposed to understand, of the possibility that their age may be determined by medical examination. This shall include information on the method of examination and the possible consequences of the result of the medical examination for the examination of the application for international protection, as well as the consequences of refusal on the part of the unaccompanied minor to undergo the medical examination;

Justification

For practical reasons and in view of the difficulty of proving language proficiency, the wording of the current Directive is preferable.

Amendment 67

Proposal for a directive
Article 21 – paragraph 5 – subparagraph 3 – point c

Text proposed by the Commission

(c) the decision to reject an application for international protection from an unaccompanied minor who refused to undergo this medical examination shall not be based solely on that refusal.

Amendment

(c) the decision to reject an application for international protection from an unaccompanied minor who refused to undergo this medical examination shall not be based on that refusal.

Justification

A minor’s refusal to undergo this medical examination may be based on a variety of reasons not connected with his or her age or the grounds for his or her application for protection.

1. Insofar as Member States provide for the possibility of explicit withdrawal of the application under national law, when an applicant explicitly withdraws his/her application for international protection, Member States shall ensure that the determining authority takes a decision to either discontinue the examination or reject the application.

Amendment

1. Insofar as Member States provide for the possibility of explicit withdrawal of the application under national law, when an applicant explicitly withdraws his/her application for international protection, Member States shall ensure that the determining authority takes a decision to discontinue the examination, and explain to the applicant the consequences of the withdrawal.

Justification

Explicit withdrawal of an application should result in closure of the procedure and not rejection of the application. A decision to reject an application should only be taken after consideration of its substance.

Article 26 – point b

Text proposed by the Commission

(b) obtain any information from the alleged actor(s) of persecution or serious harm in a manner that would result in such actor(s) being directly informed of the fact that an application has been made by the applicant in question, and would jeopardise the physical integrity of the applicant and his/her dependants, or the liberty and security of his/her family members still living in the country of origin.

Amendment

(b) obtain any information from the alleged actor(s) of persecution or serious harm in a manner that would result in such actor(s) being informed of the fact that an application has been made by the applicant in question, and would jeopardise the physical integrity of the applicant and his/her dependants, or the liberty and security of his/her family members still living in the country of origin.

Justification

In the interests of consistency with the requirement laid down in point (a) of the same article.

Amendment 72

Proposal for a directive
Article 27 – paragraph 4 – subparagraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

The consequences of failure to adopt a decision within the time limits provided for in paragraph 3 shall be determined in accordance with national law.

Amendment

At the end of the period referred to in paragraph 3, in the event of failure to adopt a decision, the burden of proof for challenging the granting of protection to an applicant shall be on the determining authority.

Justification

In order to prevent differences of interpretation and application, which would run counter to the objective of harmonising the common European asylum system, the consequences of failure to adopt a decision within the time limits provided for must be determined.

Text proposed by the Commission

(fc) the applicant may for serious reasons be considered a danger to the national security of the Member State, or the applicant has been forcibly expelled for serious reasons of public security and public order under national law.

Amendment

Justification

Article 23(4)(m) of Directive 2005/85/EC should be maintained. The possibility of ordering the immediate removal of persons posing a risk to security is urgently necessary in an age when terrorist networks operate globally.

Amendment 78
Proposal for a directive
Article 27 – paragraph 9
Text proposed by the Commission

9. The fact that an application for international protection was submitted after an irregular entry into the territory or at the border, including in transit zones, as well as the lack of documents or use of forged documents, shall not per se entail an automatic recourse to an accelerated examination procedure.

Amendment

9. The fact that an application for international protection was submitted after an irregular entry into the territory or at the border, including in transit zones, as well as the lack of documents on entry or the use of forged documents, shall not per se entail an automatic recourse to an accelerated examination procedure.

Justification

Asylum seekers may find themselves obliged to use forged travel documents in order to leave the country of persecution. They must however reveal their true identity to the determining authority after entry. An individual case history of persecution can only be established if the identity and nationality of the applicant are known. It is a major security risk to allow persons to remain whose identity has not been established due to a refusal on their part to cooperate.

Amendment 79

Proposal for a directive
Article 28

Text proposed by the Commission

Without prejudice to Article 23, Member States shall only consider an application for international protection as unfounded if the determining authority has established that the applicant does not qualify for international protection pursuant to Directive […./../EC] [the Qualification Directive].

Amendment

Member States shall only consider an application for international protection as unfounded if the determining authority has established that the applicant does not qualify for international protection pursuant to Directive […./../EC] [the Qualification Directive].

Justification

An application for international protection should be considered unfounded if, and only if, the determining authority has established that the applicant does not meet the necessary conditions.

Amendment 80

Proposal for a directive
Article 30 – paragraph 1
1. Member States shall allow applicants to present their views with regard to the application of the grounds referred to in Article 29 in their particular circumstances before a decision to consider an application inadmissible is taken. To that end, Member States shall conduct a personal interview on the admissibility of the application. Member States may make an exception only in accordance with Article 36 in cases of subsequent applications.

Justification

Given the potentially serious consequences of an inadmissibility decision, the personal interview on the admissibility of an application must be conducted by the determining authority, which, in accordance with Article 4 of the Commission proposal, must have the necessary training to apply complex concepts such as safe third country and first country of asylum.

Justification

In the interests of consistency, a requirement similar to that prohibiting the wearing of a uniform by the staff conducting an interview on the substance of an application should also apply to staff conducting an interview on the admissibility of an application. The wearing of a uniform may generate confusion on the part of the applicant as to the exact function of the interviewer and undermine the sense of confidentiality and impartiality which is vital if the interview is to proceed smoothly.

(b) he/she otherwise enjoys sufficient protection in that country, including benefiting from the principle of non-refoulement;

Amendment

(b) he/she otherwise enjoys effective protection in that country, including benefiting from the principle of non-refoulement;

Justification

The expression ‘sufficient protection’ is not clearly defined in the proposal. The protection which an applicant must enjoy if he is sent to a first country of asylum must be effective and, in practice, accessible.

Amendment 83

Proposal for a directive
Article 31 – paragraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

In applying the concept of first country of asylum to the particular circumstances of an applicant for international protection Member States may take into account Article 32 (1).

Amendment

In applying the concept of first country of asylum to the particular circumstances of an applicant for international protection Member States shall take into account Article 32 (1). The applicant shall be allowed to challenge the application of the concept of first country of asylum on the grounds that the first country of asylum in question is not safe in his or her particular case.

Justification

In order to strengthen the safeguards against failure to respect the principle of non-refoulement, the Member States should apply the criteria for safe third countries laid down in Article 32(1). Similarly, while Article 30 guarantees the right to a personal interview, Article 31(2) should also provide the applicant with an effective opportunity to refute the presumption of safety in his or her particular circumstances, as guaranteed in Article 32(2)(c) on the application of the safe third country concept.

Amendment 84
Proposal for a directive
Article 32

Text proposed by the Commission

The safe third country concept
deleted

1. Member States may apply the safe third country concept only where the competent authorities are satisfied that a person seeking international protection will be treated in accordance with the following principles in the third country concerned:

(a) life and liberty are not threatened on account of race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion;

(b) there is no risk of serious harm as defined in [Directive ....../EC] [the Qualification Directive];

(c) the principle of non-refoulement in accordance with the Geneva Convention is respected;

(d) the prohibition of removal, in violation of the right to freedom from torture and cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment as laid down in international law, is respected; and

(e) the possibility exists to request refugee status and, if found to be a refugee, to receive protection in accordance with the Geneva Convention.

2. The application of the safe third country concept shall be subject to rules laid down in national legislation, including:

(a) rules requiring a connection between the person seeking international protection and the third country concerned on the basis of which it would be reasonable for that person to go to that country;

(b) rules on the methodology by which the competent authorities satisfy themselves that the safe third country concept may be applied to a particular country or to a particular applicant. Such methodology shall include case-by-case consideration of the safety of the country for a particular applicant and/or national designation of countries considered to be generally safe;

(c) rules in accordance with international law, allowing an individual examination of whether the third country concerned is safe for a particular applicant which, as a minimum, shall permit the applicant to challenge the application of the safe third country concept on the grounds that the third country is not safe in his/her particular circumstances. The applicant shall also be allowed to challenge the existence of a connection between him/her and the third country in accordance with point (a). When implementing a decision solely based on this Article, Member States shall:

3. When implementing a decision solely based on this Article, Member States shall:

(a) inform the applicant accordingly; and

(b) provide him/her with a document informing the authorities of the third country, in the language of that country, that the application has not been examined in substance.

4. Where the third country does not permit the applicant for international protection to enter its territory, Member States shall ensure that access to a procedure is given in accordance with the basic principles and guarantees described in Chapter II.

5. Member States shall inform the Commission periodically of the countries to which this concept is applied in accordance with the provisions of this Article.
Amendment 85
Proposal for a directive
Article 33

Text proposed by the Commission

National designation of third countries as safe countries of origin

1. Member States may retain or introduce legislation that allows, in accordance with Annex II, for the national designation of safe countries of origin for the purposes of examining applications for international protection.

2. Member States shall ensure a regular review of the situation in third countries designated as safe in accordance with this Article.

3. The assessment of whether a country is a safe country of origin in accordance with this Article shall be based on a range of sources of information, including in particular information from other Member States, the European Asylum Support Office, the UNHCR, the Council of Europe and other relevant international organisations.

4. Member States shall notify to the Commission the countries that are designated as safe countries of origin in accordance with this Article.

Justification

The aim is to establish a common European asylum system. The definitions of safe third countries must therefore also be uniform in all Member States.

Amendment 86
Proposal for a directive
Article 34
Text proposed by the Commission

The safe country of origin concept

1. A third country designated as a safe country of origin in accordance with this Directive may, after an individual examination of the application, be considered as a safe country of origin for a particular applicant only if:

(a) he/she has the nationality of that country;
(b) he/she is a stateless person and was formerly habitually resident in that country;
(c) and he/she has not submitted any serious grounds for considering the country not to be a safe country of origin in his/her particular circumstances and in terms of his/her qualification as a refugee or a person eligible for subsidiary protection in accordance with [Directive …/../EC] [the Qualification Directive].

2. Member States shall lay down in national legislation further rules and modalities for the application of the safe country of origin concept.

Justification

The aim is to establish a common European asylum system. The definitions of safe third countries must therefore also be uniform in all Member States.

Amendment

1. Where a person who has applied for international protection in a Member State makes further representations or a subsequent application in the same Member State shall examine these further representations or the elements of the subsequent application in the framework of the examination of the previous application or in the framework of the examination of the decision under review or appeal, insofar as the competent authorities can take into account and consider all the elements underlying the further representations or subsequent application within this framework.

Justification

Only the determining authority is competent to assess all the elements underlying the further representations or subsequent application. This clarification will also help to streamline the procedure and improve the quality of the decision-making process.

Amendment 88

Proposal for a directive
Article 35 – paragraph 6

Text proposed by the Commission

6. Member States may decide to further examine the application only if the applicant concerned was, through no fault of his/her own, incapable of asserting the situations set forth in paragraphs 3, 4 and 5 of this Article in the previous procedure, in particular by exercising his/her right to an effective remedy pursuant to Article 41.

Justification

The Member States should not systematically refuse to examine a subsequent application on the pretext that the applicant could have brought forth the new elements or facts during the previous procedure or related appeal. An automatic refusal of this kind could result in a breach of the principle of non-refoulement.

Amendment 89

Text proposed by the Commission

Amendment

(a) the admissibility of an application, within the meaning of Article 29, made at such locations; and/or

Justification

Given the potentially serious consequences of an inadmissibility decision, the personal interview on the admissibility of an application must be conducted by the determining authority, which, in accordance with Article 4 of the Commission proposal, must have the necessary training to apply complex concepts such as safe third country and first country of asylum. The Commission proposal reaffirms that border procedures must also comply with the basic principles and guarantees of Chapter II.

Amendment 90

Proposal for a directive
Article 37 – paragraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

2. Member States shall ensure that a decision in the framework of the procedures provided for in paragraph 1 is taken within a reasonable time. When a decision has not been taken within four weeks, the applicant shall be granted entry to the territory of the Member State in order for his/her application to be processed in accordance with the other provisions of this Directive.

Amendment

2. Member States shall ensure that a decision in the framework of the procedures provided for in paragraph 1 is taken within a reasonable time. When a decision has not been taken within four weeks, the applicant shall be granted entry to the territory of the Member State in order for his/her application to be processed in accordance with the other provisions of this Directive. The holding of applicants at Member States’ borders or transit zones is equivalent to placing them in detention, as referred to in Article 22.

Justification

Holding applicants at Member States’ borders or transit zones is equivalent to placing them in detention under the terms of Article 5(1)(f) of the European Convention on the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms and the case law of the court responsible for its application. The arrangements for holding applicants at Member States’ frontiers or transit zones should therefore satisfy the requirements laid down in this area in the Commission proposal on reception conditions (COM(2008) 815 final).
Amendment 91

Proposal for a regulation
Article 38

Text proposed by the Commission

The European safe third countries concept

1. Member States may provide that no, or no full, examination of the asylum application and of the safety of the applicant in his/her particular circumstances as described in Chapter II, shall take place in cases where a competent authority has established, on the basis of the facts, that the applicant for international protection is seeking to enter or has entered illegally into its territory from a safe third country according to paragraph 2.

2. A third country can only be considered as a safe third country for the purposes of paragraph 1 where:

   (a) it has ratified and observes the provisions of the Geneva Convention without any geographical limitations;

   (b) it has in place an asylum procedure prescribed by law; and

   (c) it has ratified the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms and observes its provisions, including the standards relating to effective remedies.

Amendment

The safe third countries concept

1. A third country can only be considered as a safe third country where a person seeking international protection will be treated in accordance with the following principles and conditions in the third country concerned:

   (a) life and liberty are not threatened on account of race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion;

   (b) there is no risk of serious harm as defined in [Directive .../../EC] [the Qualification Directive];

   (c) the principle of non-refoulement in accordance with the Geneva Convention is respected;

   (d) the prohibition of removal, in violation of the right to freedom from torture and cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment as laid down in international law, is respected;

   (e) the possibility exists to request refugee status or another complementary form of protection comparable to that granted under [Directive .../... EU] [the Qualification Directive] and, if granted such status or protection, to receive protection comparable to that afforded under [Directive .../... EU][the Qualification Directive];

(f) it has ratified and observes the provisions of the Geneva Convention without any geographical limitations;

(g) it has in place an asylum procedure prescribed by law; and

(h) it has been so designated by the Council and the Parliament in accordance with paragraph 2.

2. The European Parliament and the Council shall, acting in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure, adopt or amend a common list of third countries that shall be regarded as safe third countries for the purposes of paragraph 1. The Member States concerned shall lay down in national law the modalities for implementing the provisions of paragraph 1 and rules requiring:

3. The Member States concerned shall lay down in national law the modalities for implementing the provisions of paragraph 1 and the consequences of decisions pursuant to those provisions in accordance with the principle of non-refoulement, including providing for exceptions from the application of this Article for humanitarian or political reasons or for reasons of public international law.

(a) a connection between the person seeking international protection and the third country concerned on the basis of which it would be reasonable for that person to go to that country;

(b) methodology by which the competent authorities satisfy themselves that the safe third country concept may be applied to a particular country or to a particular applicant. Such methodology shall include case-by-case consideration of the safety of the country for a particular applicant;

(c) rules in accordance with international law, allowing an individual examination of whether the third country concerned is safe for a particular applicant which, as a minimum, shall permit the applicant to challenge the application of the safe third country concept on the grounds that the third country is not safe in his/her particular circumstances. The applicant shall also be allowed to challenge the existence of a connection between him/her and the third country in accordance with point (a).

4. When implementing a decision solely based on this Article, the Member States concerned shall:

(a) inform the applicant accordingly; and
(b) provide him/her with a document informing the authorities of the third country, in the language of that country, that the application has not been examined in substance.

5. Where the safe third country does not re-admit the applicant for asylum, Member States shall ensure that access to a procedure is given in accordance with the basic principles and guarantees described in Chapter II.

5a. Member States shall not designate national lists of safe countries of origin or national lists of safe third countries.

Amendment 92

Proposal for a directive
Article 41 – paragraph 4 – subparagraph 1

Text proposed by the Commission

4. Member States shall provide for reasonable time-limits and other necessary rules for the applicant to exercise his/her right to an effective remedy pursuant to paragraph 1.

Amendment

4. Member States shall provide for minimum time-limits and other necessary rules for the applicant to exercise his/her right to an effective remedy pursuant to paragraph 1.
Justification

In view of the wide variety of time limits laid down by the Member States and the need to achieve a common asylum system as stipulated in Article 78 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, a minimum common time limit should be introduced to provide applicants with access to an effective remedy in law and in practice.

Amendment 93

Proposal for a directive
Article 41 – paragraph 4 – subparagraph 2

Text proposed by the Commission

The time limits shall not render impossible or excessively difficult the access of applicants to an effective remedy pursuant to paragraph 1. Member States may also provide for an ex officio review of decisions taken pursuant to Article 37.

Amendment

The Member States shall set a minimum time limit of forty-five working days during which applicants may exercise their right to an effective remedy. For applicants under the accelerated procedure referred to in Article 27(6), the Member States shall lay down a minimum time limit of thirty working days. The time limits shall not render impossible or excessively difficult the access of applicants to an effective remedy pursuant to paragraph 1. Member States may also provide for an ex officio review of decisions taken pursuant to Article 37.

Justification

In view of the wide variety of time limits laid down by the Member States and the need to achieve a common asylum system as stipulated in Article 78 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, a minimum common time limit should be introduced to provide applicants with access to an effective remedy in law and in practice. The time limit laid down should vary in accordance with the procedure applied in each case.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT

Background
Work on the creation of a Common European Asylum System (CEAS) started immediately after the entry into force of the Treaty of Amsterdam in May 1999, on the basis of the principles approved by the Tampere European Council. During the first phase of the CEAS (1999-2005), the goal was to harmonise Member States' legal frameworks on the basis of minimum standards. Adopted on 1 December 2005, Council Directive 2005/85/EC on asylum procedures (hereinafter referred to as ‘the Directive' or the ‘Asylum Procedures Directive’) was the last of the five pieces of EU asylum legislation.

At the end of this first phase, as provided for in the conclusions to the Tampere European Council and reaffirmed in the Hague programme, the Commission submitted proposals to the European Parliament and the Council designed to address the deficiencies noted and to ensure higher and more harmonised standards of protection within the Union. On 21 October 2009, the Commission submitted a proposal for the recasting of the Asylum Procedures Directive to the two co-legislators.

As was firmly underlined in the Stockholm programme, the aim of the second phase of legislative work on asylum consists in establishing a common area of protection and solidarity by 2012 based inter alia on a common asylum procedure. This is a crucial aspect and one which needs to be looked at in the new legal context arising from the entry into force of the Lisbon Treaty, under which the concept of 'minimum standards' referred to in Article 63 of the EC Treaty has been replaced by the more ambitious one of 'common procedures for the granting and withdrawing of uniform asylum or subsidiary protection status' (Article 78(2)(d), TFEU).

The challenges of the new phase of harmonisation
Despite the efforts made over the last ten years to achieve harmonisation in the asylum sector, major discrepancies still remain between national provisions and in the way they are applied. Such disparities are incompatible with a common European asylum system and are an obstacle to its development. In particular, they run counter to one of the cornerstones of the Dublin system, which is based on the presumption that the Member States' asylum systems are comparable. In whichever Member State applicants lodge an asylum request, they must enjoy a high standard of treatment that is equivalent throughout the Union. While legislative harmonisation alone would not suffice to reduce these differences and would need to be backed up by enhanced practical cooperation among the Member States, the adoption of a sound European legal framework is a sine qua non if the Union wishes to introduce a common European asylum system in an adequate and effective manner, something which it has repeatedly pledged to do.

Today, therefore, the challenges are clear. Only by improving and harmonising the procedures and related guarantees will it be possible to achieve a common system. With this in mind, a fundamental revision of the Procedures Directive is absolutely vital, so as to provide an accessible, fair and effective procedure, as much in the interests of asylum-seekers as in those of the Member States.
A pragmatic and ambitious Commission proposal
The Commission starts from a clear premise, namely that, by favouring a minimalist approach, the previous directive encouraged not only a proliferation of different procedural arrangements at national level, but also shortcomings as regards procedural guarantees for asylum-seekers.

On the whole, your rapporteur believes that the Commission's recasting work can genuinely help to:
- achieve greater harmonisation, by improving the consistency of asylum instruments, by clarifying and consolidating legal concepts and procedural mechanisms and thus simplifying their application;
- improve international protection standards within the Union, by introducing new procedural guarantees, so as to ensure full compatibility between EU acquis standards and those established in the case law of the Court of Justice and the European Court of Human Rights; and
- enhance the quality and efficiency of asylum procedures by 'frontloading' services, advice and expertise and encouraging Member States to deliver, within a reasonable time, robust determinations at first instance. The Commission's proposed ‘frontloading’ would make it possible in particular to better identify cases of founded, unfounded and abusive applications, improve the defendability of negative decisions and reduce the risk of them being overturned by appeal bodies, and reduce reception and procedural costs in the Member States. The existence of common rules, more effectively and more consistently applied, should also prevent or reduce secondary movements within the Union and enhance mutual trust between the Member States.

The proposed amendments
The amendments proposed by your rapporteur therefore mirror the frontloading approach taken by the Commission proposal, with a view to achieving harmonised, fair and efficient procedures under the common European asylum system.

They aim in particular to:
- secure more consistent application of the concept of ‘determining authority' and 'competent authority' in line with the principle of a single determining authority;
- achieve greater consistency between asylum instruments (as regards definitions and mechanisms);
- enhance the minimum procedural safeguards established by the case law of the Court of Justice and the European Court of Human Rights (particularly as regards the principle of equality of arms, the right to information, the right to be heard and the right to free legal assistance) and their consistent application in the directive;
- ensure due account is taken of the needs of vulnerable applicants and the best interests of children;
- revise essential procedural instruments, such as the concept of safe country of origin, safe third country and safe European third country, to ensure that they are uniformly applied with due regard for minimum rights guarantees and principles.

While being aware that there are still serious reservations within the Council about this proposal, your rapporteur nevertheless feels that it is vital for the European Parliament, as co-legislator on this occasion in the context of the second phase legislative work, to seize this opportunity to develop a common European asylum system that is fair and efficient. Asylum policies have a direct impact on those seeking protection, as well as on the European Union's ability to develop and create a genuine area of freedom, security and justice.

Subject: Proposal for a directive of the European Parliament and of the Council on minimum standards on procedures in Member States for granting and withdrawing international protection (recast)

Dear Chairman,

The Committee on Legal Affairs, which I am honoured to chair, has examined the proposal referred to above, pursuant to Rule 87 on Recasting, as introduced into the Parliament's Rules of Procedure.

Paragraph 3 of that Rule reads as follows:

"If the committee responsible for legal affairs considers that the proposal does not entail any substantive changes other than those identified as such in the proposal, it shall inform the committee responsible.

In such a case, over and above the conditions laid down in Rules 156 and 157, amendments shall be admissible within the committee responsible only if they concern those parts of the proposal which contain changes.

However, if in accordance with point 8 of the Interinstitutional Agreement the committee responsible intends also to submit amendments to the codified parts of the Commission proposal, it shall immediately notify its intention to the Council and to the Commission, and the latter should inform the committee, prior to the vote pursuant to Rule 54, of its position on the amendments and whether or not it intends to withdraw the recast proposal."

Following the opinion of the Legal Service, whose representatives participated in the meetings of the Consultative Working Party examining the recast proposal, and in keeping with the recommendations of the draftsperson, the Committee on Legal Affairs considers that the proposal in question does not include any substantive changes other than those identified as such in the proposal or in the opinion of the Consultative Working Party and that, as regards the codification of the unchanged provisions of the earlier acts with those changes, the proposal contains a straightforward codification of the existing texts, without any change in their substance.
Furthermore, pursuant to Rules 87, the Committee on Legal Affairs considered that the technical adaptations suggested in the opinion of the abovementioned Working Party were necessary in order to ensure that the proposal complied with the recasting rules.

In conclusion, after discussing it at its meeting of 27 January 2010, the Committee on Legal Affairs, by 22 votes in favour and no abstentions¹, recommends that your Committee, as the committee responsible, proceed to examine the above proposal in keeping with its suggestions and in accordance with Rule 87.

Yours faithfully,

Klaus-Heiner LEHNE

FOR THE ATTENTION OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT
THE COUNCIL
THE COMMISSION

Proposal for a directive of the European Parliament and of the Council on minimum standards on procedures in Member States for granting and withdrawing international protection

Having regard to the Inter-institutional Agreement of 28 November 2001 on a more structured use of the recasting technique for legal acts, and in particular to point 9 thereof, the Consultative Working Party consisting of the respective legal services of the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission met on 29 October and 4 November 2009 for the purpose of examining, among others, the aforementioned proposal submitted by the Commission.

1) The following parts of the text of the recast proposal should have been identified by using the grey-shaded type generally used for marking substantive changes:

- in recital 30, the proposed replacement of the words "as a refugee" with the words "for international protection";
- in Article 13(4), the words "paragraph 2(b)" and the proposed deletion of the words "and (c)

¹ The Consultative Working Party had at its disposal the English, French and German language versions of the proposal and worked on the basis of the English version, being the master-copy language version of the text under discussion.
and paragraph 3";
- in Article 21(1), introductory wording, and in Article 21(3)(a), the proposed deletion of the words "and 14" and the proposed adding of the words "and 15";
- in Article 24(1)(a), the proposed adding of the article number 15 and the proposed replacement of the article number 14 with article number 16;
- in Article 36(3)(b), the proposed deletion of the article number "32(2)" and the proposed adding of the article number "35(3)";
- in Article 40(1), first subparagraph, point (b), the proposed adding of the words "and 15";
- in Article 46, first paragraph, the final sentence "They shall forthwith communicate to the Commission the text of those provisions and a correlation table between those provisions and this Directive";
- in Article 46, fourth paragraph, the final words "and a correlation table between those provisions and this Directive".

2) In Article 50, the final words of Article 46 of Council Directive 2005/85/EC ("in conformity with the Treaty establishing the European Community") should be re-introduced.

In consequence, examination of the proposal has enabled the Consultative Working Party to conclude, without dissent, that the proposal does not comprise any substantive amendments other than those identified as such therein or in the present opinion. The Working Party also concluded, as regards the codification of the unchanged provisions of the earlier act with those substantive amendments, that the proposal contains a straightforward codification of the existing text, without any change in its substance.
