

Factors such as the international conventions on human rights of which Morocco is a member, being a signatory of the Hamburg Convention of 1979 (SAR Convention), the history of the collaboration between Spain and Morocco in the fight against illegal immigration, the participation in different European projects in the fight against illegal immigration, and the impetus of the Government of Morocco towards a new Immigration and Asylum policy, as well as the signing of the EU-Morocco mobility partnership in June 2013 make Morocco a country with which the collaboration in the fight against illegal immigration is possible.

