Subject : Overview of replies to questionnaire on undercover officers

Introduction:

On 12 June 2007 the Council adopted the Council Resolution on simplifying the cross-border deployment of undercover officers in order to step up Member States' cooperation in the fight against serious cross-border crime (6678/3/07 REV 3 CRIMORG 39). In this resolution, the Council mandates the competent Working Party (i.e. the MDG) to further examine the cross-border deployment of undercover officers (hereinafter sometimes referred to as 'UCO') and to clarify if and to what extent there is need for action at EU level. Should the MDG come to the conclusion that there is a legislative gap to fill, a draft instrument aimed at filling this gap should be submitted no later than 31 December 2008.

As a first step to fulfil the Council's mandate, the Member States were asked to fill out the questionnaire set out in 12264/07 CRIMORG 132 ENFOPOL 145 ENFOCUSTOM 86 by 31 October 2007. By mid-February 2008, 25 Member States had sent in their replies to the questionnaire.

The annex is aimed at providing an overview of the replies received so far. The attempt to present these replies in comparative tables obviously necessitated a certain level of ‘simplification’ of the replies provided by delegations. Inevitably, some nuances in the replies provided by delegations cannot be not reflected in these tables. Nevertheless, it is hoped that these comparative tables, which will be updated once the missing replies will be received, will allow the MDG to assess whether and where there is a need for further action at EU level.

Any comment with regard to these tables, can be sent to Guy Stessens:

¹ The law in BG provides for the conduct of controlled deliveries and confidential transactions with the participation of an undercover officer.

² CZ considers the question not clear enough, however to some extent the following institutes may be mentioned in this respect: interception and recording of telecommunications (section 88 of the Code of Criminal Procedure); surveillance of persons and objects (s. 158d of the Code of Criminal Procedure), sham transfer (section 158c of the Code of Criminal Procedure) etc.

³ In EE, there are similar procedures, but with different legal meaning, in place in the Surveillance Act and the Code of Criminal Procedure

⁴ IE: there is no provision in Irish Law to allow for the deployment of foreign undercover officers on Irish territory.

⁵ In LU, the undercover officers cannot be deployed for the moment due to a legislative gap. The bill introducing undercover operations is presently being discussed in Parliament.

⁶ NL indicates there are three regulations that can serve the same purposes, namely Special Investigative Powers (Cooperation) Decree, Regulation governing infiltration teams, Regulation governing the financial management of infiltration

⁸ In FI, the general use of human intelligence sources is considered to be the other measure.

² At present, in CY, there is no domestic legislation concerning the deployment of foreign undercover officers. However, the deployment of foreign undercover officers may take place, following:

- a request under articles 13 & 14 of the Convention on Mutual Assistance in Criminal Matters between the Member States of the European Union in accordance with Article 34 of the Treaty on European Union,
- bilateral, multilateral agreements or other arrangements under Articles 19 & 20 of the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime,
- bilateral, multilateral agreements under the United Nations Convention against illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances,
- an agreement with a Member State or a Third Country on police cooperation.

³ EE has made the reservation to the Article 14 of MLA, but in practice of the State Prosecutor Office “the deployment is not obligatory, but allowed (decided case by case)”

⁶ In RO, the Romanian legislation does not allow currently the use of foreign undercover investigation officers. However it appears that foreign collaborators (in trafficking drugs cases) and informers (in human beings trafficking cases) are authorised.

⁷ SE: no formal limitation, but only serious offences.

⁸ FI: Yes, when coercive measures required.

³ DK: court upon request of commissioner of police district.

⁴ SE: within the context of a formal criminal investigation. Within the context of an intelligence operation, the police gives the authorisation.

⁵ In SK, in general, there are no supervision possibilities of the office granting this authorisation.

² BE: Only if the deployment of foreign undercover agents leads to the opening of a criminal investigation in Belgium.

³ DK: the authorisation request needs to be approved by a court of law.

⁴ LT: In case a judge of a pre-trial investigation refuses to approve the activities of an undercover officer, his ruling can be appealed to a higher court.

³ NL: offences which the UCO is 'authorised' to commit.

⁴ SE: depends from case to case.

⁵ UK: depending upon the specific circumstances of the deployment, the authorisation can be given in general or in very specific terms.

⁶ BG: The time period can be renewed twice but the whole period of deployment of UCO can not be more than 6 months.

¹ ES stresses generally the necessity of caution in introducing any other participants in a sensitive issue.

² UK underlines their role rather in the facilitation of the authorisation process. On the contrary, these subjects are rarely, if ever, engaged in operational matters. In practice national liaison officers provide a more secure route to facilitate deployments where the true identity of an undercover officer is involved.

⁴ All 2006-2007 operations where BG was involved, also involved Europol.

⁵ NL: little role for Europol.

⁶ CZ: the use of an undercover officer in the Czech Republic falls within judicial cooperation in criminal matters. Therefore the use of Europol is limited. There are also practical limitations as to the use of EJN.

V. Provision of operational cover:

V. 1 Which means are used for operational cover of an undercover officer in the context of a national investigation proceedings?

² ES: Not specified in detail. The means used are the same of any other investigation, with more human and material resources, according to the specific particularities.

⁴ IE: there are no rules in national law specifically to deal with undercover operational cover. The normal rules of policing apply.

V. 2. Can these measures also be used in favor of an undercover officer of another Member State which you allowed to be deployed on your territory?

² RO: no foreign UCO can be deployed on Romanian territory, but foreign informers and collaborators enjoy the same status as Romanian ones.

V. 4. If the answer to question 3 was no: specify what kind of measures for the provision of operational cover were refused for which legal or factual reasons?

V. 5. Do you consider cross-border support as an appropriate means in the provision of operational cover, capable of increasing the investigation success? - Member States that have answered “yes”, have provided the following examples :

- International nature of organized crime
- Heightened credibility of UCO (language skills, regional origin) – more difficult for the suspects to ‘uncover’ UCO
- Better protection of UCO, who can return to his home country
- Increased flexibility and continuity to investigation, which could be slower or more risky otherwise.

VI. Seconding undercover officers abroad:

VI. 1. Did your Member State already use undercover agents of other Member States in its own investigation proceedings?

- If the answer is “yes”, please specify legal basis and experience: domestic legislation and international agreements on police co-operation and judicial co-operation, domestic criminal procedure legislation, sometimes MOU
- If the answer is “no”, the explanation often provided was: no requests received, or lack of legislation (LU)

VII. Improvements

VII. 1. In 6678/3/07 REV 3 CRIMORG 39 the following areas are highlighted in which a need for action may be needed at EU level. Please specify for each item on a scale from 0 to 10 in how far you agree with this assessment (0 = no agreement, 10 = full agreement):

d) Possibility of seconding UCO's abroad	10	10	9	10	0	8	2	10	5	8		NA		10	10	10		6	5	10	9	10		10	10	7	0

¹ IT: Very few cases have been recorded in which a foreign undercover officer, considered as an “interposed person” pursuant to the aforementioned article. 97, has operated in Italy. Therefore, due to the poor experience gained during the very short period the new law on undercover operations has been in force, it is not possible to make an assessment capable of giving a full answer to the questions posed.

² HU: / = subject to further discussion.

	AT	BE	BG	CY	CZ	DE	DK	ES	EE	FR	GR	IE	IT ¹	LV	LT	LU	MT	HU	NL	PL	PT	RO	SE	SI	SK	FI	UK

VII. 2. Is there a further need for action in areas not mentioned above?

The following areas have been mentioned:

BE: designation of a single contact point in each Member State;

DE: contact with competent authorities in other Member states should be facilitated; clarification as to who is competent

LV: harmonisation of legislation

HU: concentrating on law enforcement (no prevention), further use of evidence obtained through UCO, EAW list, JIT-type model agreement, cost effectiveness, co-operation with FRONTEX, harmonization of civil/criminal liability rules (cf. Prüm)

NL: standardised training by EU, interpretation support by EU

PT: training programmes, increased meetings between relevant units, continuous upgrading of competences

SI: court testimony by UCO – protection of identity

SK: legal regulation for carrying a weapon; contact policeman for foreign UCO

FI: improving int'l co-operation for the prevention of offences

UK: improvement of the cooperation with other MS to enable to deploy the UCO in other MS in comparable circumstances in which the deployment of those foreign UA would be possible in UK with preference for necessity and proportionality criterion rather than the type of investigated crime.

CZ: As the purpose of deploying an undercover officer under Art. 14 of Convention 2000 is obtaining evidence, it would be appropriate for the Member States to explain in what way the results of the work of the undercover officer are used as evidence in their criminal proceedings, in particular whether their courts demand a personal examination of the undercover officer as evidence in the trial and if so, in what manner they protect his/her identity.

VII. 3. Do you see any need for action to support or facilitate practical cooperation through organisational measures?

	AT	BE	BG	CY	CZ	DE	DK	ES	EE	FR	GR	IE	IT	LV	LT	LU	MT	HU	NL	PL	PT	RO	SE	SI	SK	FI	UK
Yes		X	X	X		X		X						X		X			X					X	X
No					X		X			X					X											X

BE: assistance by members from experienced teams is necessary

DE: designation of contact points in each Member State, possibly co-ordinated by Eurojust/Europol; documentation on legal regimes in all Member States; model request form

CY: coordination of various activities

NL: very limited need to provide Eurojust & Europol with a facilitating role. Greater use could be made of existing networks, without formalising them or embedding these into the structure of the EU

PL: court testimony by UCO – protection of identity

SK: mutual meetings, exchange of best practices

UK: no consideration that the need has been demonstrated for such widespread action as the Council Resolution envisages. The responses to this questionnaire will provide an evidence base to help determine what actions should be taken forward. There is also a risk in creating legislation or protocols that are available for public scrutiny – which by virtue of their visibility pose very real risks to any deployment and to the safety of officers.

CZ: not much in favour of harmonization in the area of criminal proceedings. Possible measure on the EU level should definitely avoid being detrimental to more detail ways of regulation already existing between individual Member States.
