No. Cion prop.: 11214/11 ASILE 46 CODEC 981

Subject: Amended proposal for a Directive of the European Parliament and of the Council laying down standards for the reception of asylum seekers
- Preparation for the first informal trilogue [First reading]

Introduction

On 22 February 2012, the Committee of Permanent Representatives examined the Presidency's compromise text on abovementioned amended recast of the Reception Conditions Directive (document 6394/1/12 REV1). The result of this examination with delegations' comments in the footnotes is set out in document 6799/12.

In light of the Committee's examination, the Presidency has prepared the compromise package which is reflected in annex. The Presidency invites the Committee to endorse this package as its mandate for engaging in informal trilogues with representatives of the European Parliament. In keeping with the commitment of the European Council to establish a Common European Asylum System by 2012, the Presidency aims to achieve agreement on the recast for the Reception Conditions Directive in early second reading.

The European Parliament adopted in May 2009 its first reading position on the initial recast of December 2008. Parliament intends to take this position as the basis for establishing its position on the amended recast of June 2011.

In accordance with Protocol No. 21 on the position of the United Kingdom and Ireland in respect of the Area of Freedom, Security and Justice, annexed to the Treaty on European Union, and to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, the United Kingdom and Ireland are not taking part in the adoption of the recast of the Reception Conditions Directive. In accordance with the Protocol on the position of Denmark, also Denmark does not take part in its adoption and is not bound by it or subject to its application.

Compromise package

The Presidency compromise package which appears in annex consists of the following main elements. New Presidency suggestions in comparison to document 6799/12 are indicated in bold.

1. Definition of family members – Article 2

The Presidency proposes to maintain the definition of family members as it stands following the meeting on 22 February as delegations generally could endorse the text in Article 2 (c).

2. Grounds for detention – Article 8

On 22 February, delegations received favourably the Presidency's approach to remove the detention ground in Article 8 (3) (c1) and keep the remaining grounds as they appear in the text. Against that background, the Presidency intends to maintain the grounds for detention as they now appear in Article 8 (3).

3. Access to the labour market – Article 15

On 22 February, the Presidency introduced a new compromise suggestion which included access to the labour market after 6 months, but only if a decision at first instance had not been taken and the delay could not be attributed to the applicant. The Committee of Permanent Representatives could not support this suggestion and a clear majority of delegations indicated that they would prefer to keep the wording of the Directive currently in force and called for access to the labour market after 12 months to be reinstated into the text.

The Presidency notes that access to the labour market remains a politically sensitive issue and is aware of delegations' concerns about allowing access after a shorter period than already stipulated in the Directive currently in force. In that light, the Presidency submits a further compromise suggestion pertaining to Article 15 bringing the provision on a par with Article 11 of the Directive currently in force. In addition, the Presidency suggests modifying recital (19).

4. Material Reception Conditions – Article 17 (5)

Determining the level of material reception conditions for applicants for international protection was discussed by the Committee on 22 February whereby some delegations maintained concerns. The present compromise text clarifies that a Member State may grant less favourable treatment to asylum seekers compared to nationals where it is duly justified, in particular where material support is provided in kind, or where the support provided to nationals aims to ensure a higher standard of living than what is required under the Directive.

As it stands, the text obliges Member States to determine the level of support on the basis of the point(s) of reference established by the Member State concerned either by law or practice to ensure adequate standards of living for nationals. However, there is no obligation on the Member State to give asylum seekers the same level of social welfare assistance as nationals. What is significant however is that a dignified standard of living is ensured for those seeking asylum.

The Presidency suggests maintaining the wording of Article 17 (5) as it now stands.

5. Identification of the special reception needs of vulnerable persons – Article 22

Several delegations have expressed concerns that the identification procedure in Article 22 (1) as proposed creates another procedure within the existing asylum procedure which is deemed to be both costly and administratively burdensome. These delegations would like more flexibility when it comes to assessing the special reception needs of those deemed to be vulnerable. Whilst the Presidency considers it important to have an appropriate procedure to identify vulnerable persons and their special reception needs, it notes that this procedure should not be cumbersome and financially constraining for Member States.

The Presidency has made various suggestions for modifying Article 22 with a view to accommodating those delegations that have maintained reservations on this Article. In that context divergent opinions have been expressed by the Commission and by delegations throughout those discussions.

Thus, the Presidency suggests to further amend Article 22, indicating that where an applicant is a vulnerable person the Member State shall carry out an individual evaluation in order to identify whether the applicant has special reception needs while also indicating the nature of such needs. This would then allow some flexibility when it comes to addressing the needs of those who are vulnerable, without having a procedure that obliges Member States to examine all asylum seekers to see if they are vulnerable persons. In addition, the Presidency suggests modifying recital (14).

6. Free legal assistance and representation – Article 26

Discussions at the Committee of Permanent Representatives on 22 February indicated some outstanding concerns on providing free legal assistance and representation to those who wish to appeal against a withdrawal or reduction of their material reception conditions. Although some delegations have kept reservations, the Presidency considers that the current text in Article 26 has sufficient support and therefore suggests keeping the current wording as part of the overall compromise package.

Conclusion

The Presidency invites the Committee of Permanent Representatives to endorse the compromise package reflected in the annex with a view to establishing a mandate for the first trilogue on the recast of the Reception Conditions Directive.

- (4) The European Council, at its meeting of 4 November 2004, adopted The Hague Programme which set the objectives to be implemented in the area of freedom, security and justice in the period 2005-2010. In this respect, The Hague Programme invited the European Commission to conclude the evaluation of the first-phase instruments and to submit the second-phase instruments and measures to the Council and the European Parliament.
- (5) The European Council at its meeting of 10-11 December 2009 adopted the Stockholm programme which reconfirmed the commitment to establishing a common area of protection and solidarity based on a common asylum procedure and a uniform status for those granted international protection based on high protection standards and fair and effective procedures by 2012. The Stockholm Programme further provides that it is crucial that individuals, regardless of the Member State in which their application for asylum is made, are offered an equivalent level of treatment as regards reception conditions.

- (6) The resources of the European Refugee Fund and of the European Asylum Support Office, established by Regulation (EU) No 439/2010 of the European Parliament and of the Council¹, should be mobilised to provide adequate support to the Member States' efforts relating to the implementation of the standards set in the second phase of the Common European Asylum System, in particular to those Member States which are faced with specific and disproportionate pressures on their asylum systems, due in particular to their geographical or demographic situation.
- (7) In the light of the results of the evaluations undertaken on the implementation of the first phase instruments, it is appropriate, at this stage, to confirm the principles underlying Directive 2003/9/EC with a view to ensuring improved reception conditions for asylum seekers.
- (8) In order to ensure equal treatment of asylum seekers throughout the Union, this Directive should apply during all stages and types of procedures concerning applications for international protection and in all locations and facilities hosting asylum seekers.
- (9) Member States should seek to ensure full compliance with the principles of the best interests of the child and the importance of family unity, in the application of this Directive, in line with the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union, the 1989 United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child and the European Convention for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms respectively.

2. Member States may decide on the residence of the asylum seeker for reasons of public interest, public order or, when necessary, for the swift processing and effective monitoring of his or her application ⇒ for international protection ⇐.

~~3. When it proves necessary, for example for legal reasons or reasons of public order, Member States may confine an applicant to a particular place in accordance with their national law.~~

3.4. Member States may make provision of the material reception conditions subject to actual residence by the applicants in a specific place, to be determined by the Member States. Such a decision, which may be of a general nature, shall be taken individually and established by national legislation.

4.5. Member States shall provide for the possibility of granting applicants temporary permission to leave the place of residence mentioned in paragraphs 2 and ~~4~~3 and/or the assigned area mentioned in paragraph 1. Decisions shall be taken individually, objectively and impartially and reasons shall be given if they are negative.

The applicant shall not require permission to keep appointments with authorities and courts if his or her appearance is necessary.

5.6. Member States shall require applicants to inform the competent authorities of their current address and notify any change of address to such authorities as soon as possible.

Article 8

Detention

1. Member States shall not hold a person in detention for the sole reason that he/she is an applicant for international protection in accordance with Directive [...]/.../EU [the Asylum Procedures Directive].
2. When it proves necessary and on the basis of an individual assessment of each case, Member States may detain an applicant, if other less coercive alternative measures cannot be applied effectively.
3. ☞ [...] ☞ ☞ An ☞ applicant may only be detained :
 - (a) in order to determine or verify his/her identity or nationality;
 - (b) in order to determine ☞ [...] ☞ the elements on which the application for international protection is based which could not be obtained in the absence of detention ☞ , in particular when there is a risk of absconding ☞ ;
 - (c) in the context of a procedure, to decide on the right to enter the territory;

(d) when he/she is already detained subject to a return procedure in order to prepare the return and/or carry on the removal process and there are reasonable grounds to believe that [...] he/she makes the [...] application for international protection merely in order to delay or frustrate the enforcement of the [...] return decision [...];

(e [...]) when protection of national security or public order so requires.

(f) in accordance with Article 27 of Regulation (EC) No [...] [Dublin Regulation [...]]

[...] Grounds for detention shall be laid down in national law .

4. Member States shall ensure that any rules concerning alternatives to detention, such as regular reporting to the authorities, the deposit of a financial guarantee, or an obligation to stay at an assigned place, are laid down in national law.

Article 9

Guarantees for detained asylum seekers

1. Detention shall be for as short a period as possible and shall only be maintained for as long as the grounds set out in Article 8(3) are applicable.

Administrative procedures relevant to the grounds set out in Article 8(3) shall be executed with due diligence. Delays in the administrative procedures that cannot be attributed to the asylum seeker shall not justify a continuation of detention.

2. Detention shall be ordered by judicial or administrative authorities. Where detention is ordered by administrative authorities, Member States shall provide for a speedy judicial review of the lawfulness of detention conducted ex officio and/or on the request of the applicant. The review of the lawfulness of detention shall be decided on as speedily as possible from the beginning of detention in the case of the ex officio review. Article 10

Conditions of detention

1. Detention shall [...] take place as a rule in specialised detention facilities.
Where a Member State cannot provide accommodation in a specialised detention facility and is obliged to resort to prison accommodation, the asylum seeker in detention shall be kept separately from ordinary prisoners.

2. Detained asylum seekers shall have access to open-air spaces.
3. Member States shall ensure that persons representing the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees have the possibility to communicate with applicants and to have access to detention facilities. This also applies to an organisation which is working in the territory of the Member State concerned on behalf of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees pursuant to an agreement with that Member State .

4. Member States shall ensure that family members, legal advisers or counsellors and persons representing relevant non-governmental organisations recognised by the Member State concerned, have the possibility to communicate with applicants and have access to detention facilities. Limits to access may be imposed only where, by virtue of national law, they are objectively necessary for the security, public order or administrative management of the detention facility, provided that access is not thereby severely limited or rendered impossible.
5. Member States shall ensure that asylum seekers in detention are systematically provided with information which explains the rules applied in the facility and sets out their rights and obligations in a language they understand or are reasonably supposed to understand. Member States may derogate from this obligation in duly justified cases and for a reasonable period which shall be as short as possible when the asylum seeker is detained at a border or in a transit zone. This derogation shall not apply in [...] cases referred to in Article 43 of Directive [...] [the Asylum Procedures Directive].

Detention of vulnerable persons and persons with special reception needs

1. ☞ The health, including the mental health, of applicants ☞ in detention ☞ ☞ [...] ☞ who are vulnerable persons shall be of primary concern to national authorities. ☞ ☞ [...] ☞

Where vulnerable persons are detained, Member States shall ensure regular monitoring and adequate support taking into account their particular situation including their health.

2. Minors shall only [...] be detained [...] as a measure of last resort and for the shortest period of time. The minor's best interests, as prescribed in Article 23(2), shall be a primary consideration.

Unaccompanied minors shall be detained only in particularly exceptional circumstances. All efforts shall be made to release the detained unaccompanied minor as soon as possible. [...]

Unaccompanied minors shall not be kept in prison accommodation.

Where minors are detained, they shall have the possibility to engage in leisure-activities, including play and recreational activities appropriate to their age.

Where unaccompanied minors are detained, Member States shall ensure that they are accommodated separately from adults.

3. Detained families shall be provided with separate accommodation guaranteeing adequate privacy.

4. Where female asylum seekers are detained, Member States shall ensure that they are accommodated separately from male asylum seekers, unless these are family members and all concerned individuals consent thereto.

Exceptions may also apply for the use of common spaces designed for recreational or social activities including the provision of meals.

5. In duly justified cases and for a reasonable period that shall be as short as possible Member States may derogate from the fourth subparagraph of paragraph 2, paragraph 3 and the first subparagraph of paragraph 4, when the asylum seeker is detained at a border post or in a transit zone, with the exception of cases referred to in Article 43 of Directive [...] /EU [the Asylum Procedures Directive].

Article 12 ~~8~~

Families

Member States shall take appropriate measures to maintain as far as possible family unity as present within their territory, if applicants are provided with housing by the Member State concerned. Such measures shall be implemented with the asylum seeker's agreement.

Medical screening

Member States may require medical screening for applicants on public health grounds.

Article 14 ~~10~~

Schooling and education of minors

1. Member States shall grant to minor children of asylum seekers and to asylum seekers who are minors access to the education system under similar conditions as nationals of the host Member State for so long as an expulsion measure against them or their parents is not actually enforced. Such education may be provided in accommodation centres.

The Member State concerned may stipulate that such access must be confined to the State education system.

~~Minors shall be younger than the age of legal majority in the Member State in which the application for asylum was lodged or is being examined.~~ Member States shall not withdraw secondary education for the sole reason that the minor has reached the age of majority.

2. Access to the education system shall not be postponed for more than three months from the date the application for ~~⇒ international protection ⇐ asylum~~ was lodged by ~~⇒ or on behalf of ⇐ the minor or the minor's parents~~. ~~This period may be extended to one year where specific education is provided in order to facilitate access to the education system.~~
